Investing in a high-quality Automated External Defibrillator (AED) is a critical decision that can save lives during a cardiac emergency. A reliable AED is user-friendly, featuring clear voice prompts and visual cues that guide even untrained bystanders through the process of delivering potentially life-saving treatment. The faster an AED is deployed, the higher the chance of survival, making it essential for workplaces, schools, and public spaces. Moreover, a good AED often comes with robust features, such as real-time feedback on compressions and long battery life, ensuring it's ready when needed. By equipping your environment with a top-tier AED, you not only enhance safety but also demonstrate a commitment to the well-being of those around you.

Every type of respirator has a different fit, so no respirator will fit everyone. Therefore OSHA requires all disposable half-mask and full-face respirators, as well as, tight fitting supplied air face pieces, to be fit tested by an approved fit test method, which can be achieved through the use of one of the test kits found on this page.

Qualitative fit testing involves the introduction of a harmless, odorous, or irritating substance (such as smoke, saccharin or Bitrex) into the breathing zone around the respirator being worn. If no odor or irritation is detected, you have a properly fitted respirator

QUALITATIVE FIT-TEST KITS

- Kits available from NORTH®, 3M® and ALLEGRO®
- Meets OSHA qualitative fit testing requirements
- Sweet and bitter solutions, all kits include nebulizers, Tyvek® enclosures and instructions
- Replacement accessories available for all kits
- Meets the performance criteria for fit testing respirators under 29 CFR 1910.134 Appendix A
